No Quick Mideast Solution in Sight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With angry charges and countercharges about violations of the fragile Middle East ceasefire still hanging in the air, it is apparent that a negotiated settlement of the Arab-Israeli hostilities is a good distance from reality.

Aside from the actual fighting still going on between Israeli border forces and Arab guerrillas from Syria, Jordan and Lebanon, and aside from alleged violations of the 90-day truce by Egypt and Israel, the issues involved in the Middle East dispute make for a rocky path in the negotiations ahead.

In 1967, when Israel used the element of surprise and superior air power to snuff out Arab resistance in six days of fighting, territories under Israeli control was just about tripled. The Israelis took control over the Sinai Peninsula, including the Gaza Strip, all the way from their own southern border to the Suez Canal. Israel also carved the Golan Heights out of southwestern Syria, and took full control of Jerusalem and a sizeable chunk of territory west of the Jordan River from Jordan.

But Israel also gained something which has proved to be an unwanted headache — an even greater problem of Arab refugees than it had before the six-day war. One of the perennial Arab demands is the Israel arrange for the repartition of Arabs who were displaced when the state of Israel was founded in 1948. The demand has been given new impetus as the result of Arabs who became refugees as a result of Israel's quick victory in 1967.

One of Israel's demands, however, is for the right to recognized and secure boundaries — and the Israelis are known to feel that to admit Palestinian refugees and potential if not actual guerrillas to Israeli territory would be a form of suicide.

Neither of the two sides has made its negotiating strategy known in the talks now underway at the United Nations in New York. But presuming enough good will and trust can be found to solve such peripheral problems as exchange of prisoners, the Egyptians, Israelis and Jordanians may want to start talking about how much territory Israel should be required to return. A United Nations Security Council resolution that followed the 1967 war called on Israel to withdraw from all captured territory, and to date Israel has not accepted the suggestion, largely because she feels unsure that her boundaries would be protected from Arab forces around her.

One possible solution being kicked around by observers of the Middle East problem is the creation of large autonomous areas which would be buffers between the Arab states and Israel. For example, the Gaza Strip, long a thorn in Israel's Mediterranean side, would be autonomously controlled by its residents. The same would go for a large portion of the Golan Heights. And the West Bank of the Jordan River could well be established as an autonomous Palestinian state for refugees.

The fly in the ointment of any such plan, though, is the persistent demand by Palestinian guerrilla leaders that the Jewish character of Israel be ended and that refugees — now numbering about 1.2 million — be repatriated in what is now Israel.

Another possible sticking point is what kind of demand Israel will make to ensure its access through the Strati of Tiran to the Red Sea. Even if the Sinai Peninsula is returned to Egypt on the condition that it be demilitarized, Israel may well want to hold onto a strip along the Gulf of Aqaba from Eilat to Sharm el Sheikh. Even moderate Arabs are not likely to be willing to accept this without the presence of a U.N. force in such a strip.

Diplomatic observers are hoping that the adversaries will be able to find enough ground for agreement during the 90-day truce period to warrant extending it beyond its Dec. 5 deadline. But no one expects to see any kind of agreement between the two sides soon, at the least not before the current session of the General Assembly ends about Dec. 15.

The United States said Friday that Arab guerrillas had canceled a 72-hour deadline for a deal on releasing more than 280 hostages aboard three hijacked planes in the Jordanian desert.

But a guerrilla spokesman in Amman said the deadline stood and is still due to expire at 10 p.m. EDT Saturday.

The State Department announced the development in Washington as Arab governments and moderate Palestinians pressed the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine to free the prisoners on "humanitarian grounds."

The Popular Front restored

passports to passengers released from the planes earlier this week and moved to Amman's Intercontinental Hotel.

Sixty-two of them left for Cyprus aboard a chartered Jordanian jet.

The Jordanian government, working with the over-all reflected the views of the guerrilla command, earlier announced the desert hostages would be removed from the planes to the hotel.

But hijackers holding the passengers, crewmen and three airlines barked. Told of the efforts to move the passengers, one guerrilla said: "Then why the hell have we been waiting here all these days. I tell you nobody is going to move from here until our demands are met."

The development came after four Western governments and Israel rejected a guerrilla attempt to trade Israeli passengers for Arabs held by Israel. They demanded that all hostages be freed.

The leftist Arab government of Iraq and Syria further isolated the Peking-oriented guerrillas by coming out in favor of the release of all planes and passengers.

It was unclear whether the attitude of guerrillas at the scene working with the over-all reflected the views of the leadership of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which claims credit for five hijacking plots this week.

The Palestine Liberation Organization's Central Committee, the overall command of the Arab guerrilla movement, had announced the hostages would be moved to Amman for humanitarian reasons and would remain there until their fate was decided.

Andre Rochat, the International Red Cross representative who has been negotiating for the hostages' release, said all of them would be brought to the Jordanian capital.

In Geneva, Marcel Naville, president of the International Red Cross Committee, said he understood an agreement for the release of the passengers and crewmen had been reached with the Palestinians.

He said the committee also protested "the absolutely inhuman conditions opposed to the rights of man and the Geneva and Hague conventions" in which the hostages are being held.

But in Amman, an official of the Popular Front refused to disclose the organization's position. His group has frequently flouted orders from the guerrilla command.

First Cable Television Line Placed on Hospital Grounds

Work on installing cable television in Sikeston now is in full swing, Travis Garrett, manager for See-Mor Cable TV Inc., said today.

Permission from Federal Communication Commission, has been granted the owners of the corporation, Tom Gleason, Beeville, Tex., John Hux and David Blanton, both of Sikeston, to proceed.

Permission also has been granted by both electric and telephone companies for lease space for use of poles to run their three-fourth inch wire cable under company lines, over a radius of 65 miles in the city limits of Sikeston and Miner.

The first cable was placed on poles on the Missouri Delta Community hospital grounds Thursday. The work is scheduled to be completed this fall.

Service from the outside line to the television set, will be from a one-fourth inch line.

"Every precaution will be followed to make a neat job of placing the lines over the city," Garrett said. "Where there is underground cable in new construction areas, the cable television will follow the same practice."

A 300-foot tower, will be constructed on the Bill Huff property, two miles north of the city limits in two or three weeks, Garrett said.

Five miles of the lines will be underground. Five line crews have been placed on the job by the Jerrold Electronics, Philadelphia, Pa., contractors for the project.

An office and service department has been opened in the Ernest Harper building at 217 Tanner St.

Garrett said installation to the homes will begin within a month.

See-Mor will carry three channels full time, are channel 3, Harrisburg, channel 6, Paducah, and channel 12, Cape Girardeau. One channel is allocated for the Sikeston school system; and one for other Sikeston programs.

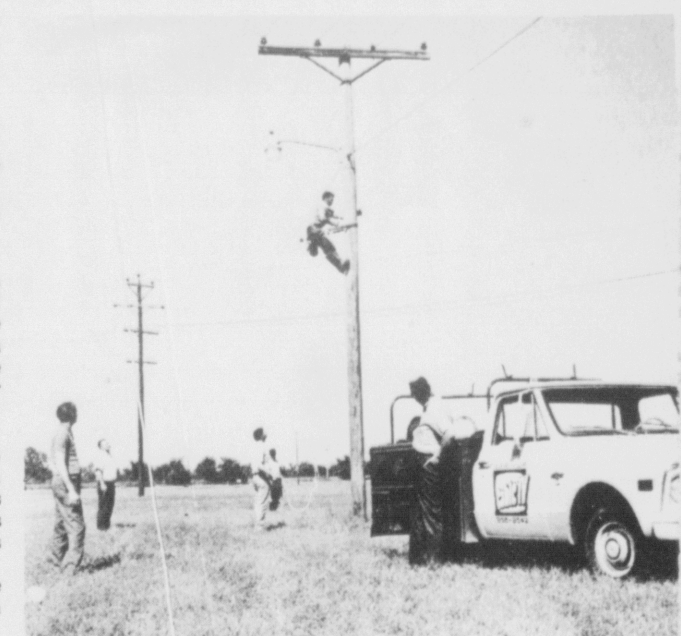

Other proposed channels for use will be channel 8, Carbondale and channel 29, Murray, Ky., both for educational television. Channel 21, Paducah, an independent station, is due to be in operation by November.

Three-Year Terms for Twins

BENTON — Twin brothers, Gary and Larry Acup, 26, both of Scott County, were sentenced to three years each in the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City in circuit court Thursday for burglary and stealing.

Judge Marshall Craig imposed the sentences.

The charges stem from a house burglary three months ago at Chaffee.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

There's nothing like a pretty nurse to make you realize how sick and or old you are.

A NATIONAL GIFT CRISIS?

We haven't the foggiest notion as to the identity of Mr. Allan Kiron of Washington, D.C., but a news story reports that he has come up with a retaliatory move to the proposal of the Women's Lib that gals stop wearing bras.

Men, Kiron adamantly insists, should stop wearing ties - and he has painstakingly assembled much evidence to support his "off with the ties!" men's liberation movement. With regard to comfort, Kiron points out that with shirt, collar, and tie, a fellow's neck is solidly encased with ten to twelve layers of cloth - all of which can be mighty uncomfortable on a hot sticky day. With all that bunting bound about the cervix, it is little wonder that sometimes members of Congress get a little hot under the collar.

Kiron says that the average man wastes more than a year of his lifetime just putting ties on and off, while his family and friends waste an equal amount of time shopping for and buying ties and accessories. Costs, he claims, runs to several billion dollars, projected nationally.

We recall that one of the ironclad rules of Mrs. Helen Rogers Reid, the late publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, was that all staff members had to wear hats. Failure to comply with the rule invited discharge or, at the very least, a stern lecture on the proper attire for gentlemen of the press. One of the staffers whose beat covered the restaurants, nightclubs and theatres figured that his investment in hats and costs in checking tips was costing him better than $500 a year.

But without neckties, what in the world will aunts buy for their favorite nephews? Or girls for their first boyfriend? Or daughters for their dads? We can see possibilities for a national gift crisis.

Nevertheless, we will watch the off- with- the necktie program of the Men's Lib with interest. OK, Women's Lib; the next move is up to you.

Keep Conscience clear, Then never fear.

CAMPUS WARS-GHO PRAGUE

The intelligent, clean-cut, and sincere American college man or woman is always deeply offended by the charge that campus turmoil is, at least in part, often communist inspired. The CIA and the FBI, however, are well aware of the carefully structured communist organization that either triggers or quickly encourages almost every major campus disruption in the United States.

The nerve center of communist plotting and propaganda among the students of the world is in Prague, Czechoslovakia. The immense International Union of Students occupies buildings within the very shadow of the Ruzyně Airport near Prague, and the IUS is financed and directed by Moscow. IUS supports university anarchists in the United States and everywhere in the free world.

Following the usual Kremlin pattern, IUS is structured into "country desks," with each section supervising a particular nation. There they contrive propaganda answers, specific actions, and methods of exploitation of every issue in the target nation. Every country desks hammers away on the issue of Viet Nam. They repeat the cry of "Peace!" like a drumbeat.

A number of the radicals who head up the various country desks are well known in the United States. Ralph Shoenman, 34, heads up the Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation. Russell masterminded the ridiculous mock trial of President Johnson in Stockholm as a protest against Viet Nam. Schoenman was once tossed into prison in Dublin, Ireland. Later, Scotland Yard picked him up and England banned him from the country. There was consternation, however, when it was discovered that Shoenman had an American passport.

Rudolf Dutschke was arrested in Berlin, West Germany, April 11, 1968, and the police documented that the IUS desk for West Germany was under Dutschke's control. This is the man we have referred to as "Red Rudi."

Another world figure in radicalism, Daniel Cohn-Bendit, who once said, "Before you can build you must destroy," supervises the country desk of France. Cohn-Bendit is a German, not a Frenchman. He was the main architect of student riots that came close to deposing Charles de Gaulle while he was still president of France.

These and other well-known radicals contribute to the country desk that plots propaganda and revolution for the United States. Henry J. Taylor, in a recent column, quoted Italian Foreign Minister Aldo Moro, who is also a professor. Moro said: "In my country, as in France, your country, and throughout the free world, the Reds' technique is always to up their demands with every concession they gain."

Japanese Premier Sato visited the United States and said that, in 1969, 14,000 Japanese students were arrested for campus disorders (in the United States were arrested only 3,600), and that the IUS drive had reduced education to a shambles in Japan.

The communist official arm for student revolution, the International Union of Students, runs terrorist training centers for African students as well as programs for insurrectionists throughout Europe, Asia, Latin America, and the United States.

If we could only persuade a few responsible students to research for themselves the facts and truth about Red influence on campus violence, the conversation they want to have with the adult world would quickly take on real meaning.

To oppose immoral waste and deadly threats to this nation's freedom is an act of loyalty and not "extremism" - right or left.

The Richmond News Leader defines "Foreign Aid": Money paid out by poor people in rich countries to rich people in poor countries.
POINT WELL TAKEN

The president of San Francisco State College, Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, offers criticism of television programming that deserves the most serious thought of every journalist-editorial writer, news commentator and reporter. "The other day," says Dr. Hayakawa, "I saw, to my great horror, that Stokely Carmichael was given an hour interview on one of the networks. They had to go to Algiers to pick him up and interview him, when there are distinguished people like Andrew Brimmer, the first Negro to serve as a governor of the Federal Reserve Board... who in any one week are doing more for the advancement of not only the Negro cause but the advancement of all of us in general, than Stokely Carmichael will ever do in his lifetime... In a similar way, I keep thinking of all the conscientious and wonderful students who have kept out of trouble, who go to classes, who study, who - when the uproar is going on - are in the library researching Elizabethan literature, or doing chemistry experiments, or something, and they don't get on the networks." San Francisco State's outspoken president makes a point that is well taken.

Rudy Chittenden says: "Hereditry determines the color of her eyes, but environment lights them up."

The National Association of Manufacturers noted that, "The $200 billion federal government spending mark is likely to be exceeded in the next fiscal year, adding as much in nine years as it took two centuries to achieve previously, Arthur F. Burns, Counselor to President Nixon, said. 'In view of the explosive growth of federal spending and the ineffectiveness or inefficiency of much of it, the need for expenditure reform may be ever greater than the need for tax reform,' he observed. He blames the federal spending boom on civilian programs, for noting that defense outlays have been responsible for only about one-sixth of the vast increase in government cost. It is hoped that the Administration pays heed to his recommendation to have outside experts make a careful study and evaluation of the major branches of federal expenditures - and then follow through with major budget reductions."

WHOSE DRIVEL, MR. AGNEW?

Contrary to President Nixon's suggestion to the nation, Vice President Agnew is definitely not going "to lower my voice."

Americans, says Agnew, "need a strong voice to penetrate the cacophony of seditious drivels emanating from the best - publicized clowns of our society and from their fans in the Fourth Estate."

Fair enough. But it would be helpful if the vice president would begin to be a bit more specific, for what is drivle to one man may be the honest-to-God truth to another.

Whose "seditious drivels" does he have in mind? "Liberal" James Reston of the New York Times, for instance? Yet even Reston has been known to slip and write a flattering piece about the Nixon administration. "Conservative" Southern James Kilpatrick? But what are we to make of a recent Kilpatrick column in which he criticized Judge Julius Hoffman's handling of the Chicago conspiracy trial and dismissed the law under which five of those "clowns" were convicted as a bad law?

Everyone who writes or speaks for public consumption is guilty of indulging in drivle once in a while in somebody's opinion. Aren't they, Mr. Vice President?

As government gets bigger in proportion to the growth of the population and the productive capacity of the people, the rising cost of supporting it must be spread over the backs of more and more people. The old saw about soaking the rich is an empty phrase. There aren't enough of them. The poor also pay taxes, and if inflation and the cost of government continue to rise, the ranks of the poor will increase. This is as certain as night following day. The wealth of the rich is like the proverbial fly speck on a barn door compared to current government spending and borrowing. Payment for multibillion dollar federal programs must be drawn mainly from the limited resources of the majority of citizens - including those in the

NEW YORK (AP) — James Joseph O'Connell was about to embark on a leisurely trip across the United States and figured he ought to have a camera.

But because his trip was going to be extremely low budget (with knapsack and two changes of underwear and in a '63 Ford), he didn't want to tie up much of his capital in photographic gear.

"Don't go to a camera store," cautioned a friend. "They'll charge you an arm and a leg... Try a drug store or something like that."

James Joseph thought that was good advice and started out for downtown and a drugstore where a friend of his ran the soda fountain.

Walking along a back street in Denver, he glanced in a pawn shop window.

"Wow," he thought. "A pawn shop. They're always loaded with cameras. Ought to get a real bargain in there."

The shop was dingy, dimly lit and filled with tables cluttered with merchandise—one with old umbrellas, another with radios, another with clocks. But there, in the corner, was the table James Joseph was after; it was overflowing with cameras of all shapes and sizes.

He came upon a small, simple camera—the aim and snap kind—just what he wanted. The tag read: "$45-$55."

"Excuse me, sir," he asked the shop owner. "What does this tag mean?"

The owner replied: "Means you'd buy it in a store for $45, but we're offering it for $25."

James Joseph did some quick figuring in his head to see how much he would be saving and muttered: "Hmmm, 20 bucks."

"Twenty-three and not a penny less," the owner said immediately.

James Joseph was confused for a second, but suddenly realized the man thought he was trying to bargain with him. O'Connell didn't know you could do that in a pawn shop.

"If I could knock the price down two bucks here without knowing what I am doing," O'Connell thought. "In another shop I could really score."

He thanked the man and headed for another shop. After considerable bargaining he got one for $16.

O'Connell headed for the drugstore to buy some film and brag about his bargaining abilities to his friend.

"Hey, Harry, look what I just got for a steal at a pawn shop," he told his friend. "Got some film for it? I want to try it out."

Harry got the film and then asked: "How much you pay for that thing, anyhow?"

"Sixteen bucks," James Joseph said proudly. "Talked him down from $20."

Harry pointed to a camera display at the end of the fountain counter. There was the same camera, brand-new. Price: $8.95, with a leather case and flash attachment included.

U. S. News & World Report recently published figures showing that taxes take 34 per cent of annual family incomes under $3,000, because of rising income taxes, social security levies, state and local sales and property taxes. Tax experts, economists and other authorities are now trying to figure out a way to relieve the poor of part of their tax burden. In the meantime, taxes continue to go up as the cost of government continues to grow. Anyone who doubts this has merely to look at the jump in his social security tax that heralded the new year. There is only one way to relieve the tax burden for the poor, as for everyone else. And that is to trim back on government spending and debt.

Banks are among the largest of advertisers in many community newspapers. Bank advertising has been increasing in quantity and variety in recent years.

The association between progressive local banks and the hometown newspaper is a natural one. Both institutions have a direct stake and interest in a prosperous, happy community. Both are in a position to do something about the direction a community takes.

Until recent years, the average citizen regarded the local bank only as a place to deposit money and to provide highly specialized loans. Actually, the bank is in the business of providing "cradle to grave" services. Policies of the local bank have direct influence on the development of industry, agriculture, and retail trade.

Much of the new type of bank advertising is directed toward the individual citizen. It may be designed to explain how easily a personal loan can be obtained. It may be designed to encourage savings.

Some of the best bank advertising carries the same kind of message found in good editorials and news stories which serve to build a better community. The progressive banker realizes that what is good for the community is good for his bank.

As far as local business is concerned, the bank, the grocery, and the department store, along with other retail services and shops, are parts of a unit. They move forward together.

Bank advertising, along with other advertising in the local newspaper, usually provides a gauge which points to the direction of community progress.

OFF HIS MIND

A MAN WHO was fond of playing practical jokes, sent a friend a telegram, charges collect, which read:

"I am perfectly well."

About a week later, the joker received a heavy package on which he was required to pay considerable charges. Opening it he found a big block of concrete on which was pasted the message:

"This is the weight your telegram lifted from my mind."

JUSTICE BLACK MAKES SENSE

The experience of history indicates that those who condone or support the violence on American campuses and the disruption of educational routine on the grounds of preserving a necessary atmosphere of freedom in institutions of higher learning may be off on the wrong foot.

Anarchy on the campus has virtually destroyed higher education in Latin America. The decline began in 1918 when students in Argentina were given a voice in running the universities.

The governments of Latin American countries have been trying to reverse the trend, but, in the meantime, standards have sunk so low that a Mexican professor was compelled to admit, "We produce bad doctors, but they displace witch doctors. We produce bad lawyers, but they are going to be clerks anyway, with some legal training. Our brilliant students we send abroad."

In the U.S., before the meaning of education dissolves in chaos, it might be well to heed the words of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black who recently said, "I have always had the idea that the GRASSHOPPER JAM?

There's a bright side in the battle against the bugs, which is one front in the larger war against pesticide pollution and worldwide hunger.

"If we can't beat 'em, we'll eat 'em," cheerily predicts Dr. Howard A. Schneiderman, dean of the school of biological sciences at the Irvine Campus of the University of California.

"In the event we start to lose the battle, the war itself is not really lost," he says, "for insects themselves are an excellent source of protein ... Eating bread fortified with insect meal (is) no different than eating fortified with fish meal."

Woman Wants to Bear Father-in-law's Child by Artificial Insemination

Dear Ann Landers: In your column recently there appeared a letter from a woman who wanted to bear a child through artificial insemination since her husband's tests proved him incapable of fatherhood.

I was especially interested in her letter because I am facing a serious crisis as a result of the same problem. My husband has agreed to artificial insemination but only if I use his father's sperm. I was shocked at first, but his father insists on it and says unless we agree, he will not consider our child his legitimate heir.

I have no real objections since I admire my father-in-law very much and the insemination would be artificial. But I do have some strange feelings. Will you ease my conscience and give me your blessings?—Luana

Dear Lu: Since you have no "real objections," go ahead, but you do so without my blessings. Such an arrangement has endless possibilities for a lifetime of trouble. A father-in-law who makes such demands must be wildly egocentric, if not crazy. A husband who would agree needs to examine his relationship with his father. My guess is that he feels vastly inferior to Pa. The ultimate act of self-emasculation would be to allow his father to impregnate his wife. As for you, my dear, have you considered what it would be like to give birth to your own brother-in-law? I don't know how much money is involved here, but in my opinion there isn't enough money in the world to make this deal acceptable.

Dear Ann Landers: I need an answer NOW. I tried to call a suicide center a few minutes ago and discovered Cincinnati doesn't have one. I was horribly depressed and felt the need to talk to somebody.

I think I need psychiatric help but I can't let my family down. They would feel like failures if they knew how disturbed and unstable I am. Why do parents blame themselves when their children go haywire; I know I'm a slob and it is my own fault, not theirs. I've had every opportunity to make something of myself but I just can't seem to concentrate long enough to accomplish anything.

Right now my stomach is tied up in knots and my head is throbbing so hard I'm afraid it will burst. If you can't help me, Ann, I want to say thanks for listening.—O.G.S.B.W.

Dear Friend: Cincinnati has no Suicide Prevention Center as yet, but there is a chapter of Recovery, Incorporated five miles away in Fort Thomas, Kentucky. The telephone number is 606 441-2614. I urge you to give them a call. Perhaps all you need is a helping hand to get you through this temporary crisis. And please stop worrying about "disgracing" your family. If you broke a leg you wouldn't be ashamed to get it set, would you? Get going and good luck. God helps those who help themselves.

Dear Ann Landers: In June I was invited to a graduation ceremony, in July to a bridal shower, in August to a wedding and in May I received a baby announcement. Same girl—four gifts within 11-1/2 months. My pocketbook is aching. What can a person say?—Red Ink

Dear Red: Say ouch and buy gifts in keeping with what you can afford.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits—the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Sex—Ten Ways To Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

QUALITY WOOL, woven of virgin fleece (never before woven) never scratches...

Fabric Frolics

Washable wool in two or three weights, and non-washable wool. Performance and care hinge on these qualities:

A. Wool's natural crimp gives it resiliency and vitality.

B. Wool acts as a shield against cold and heat, thus, serves as a health regulator of body temperature. It can be worn for all occasions and in all seasons.

C. Wool's non-inflammability is an important protective characteristic.

D. Wool is naturally wrinkle resistant because of the structural makeup of the fiber. With a twenty-four hour rest it resumes a smooth, neat appearance.

E. Check out the fabric styling for eye appeal and texture. Is the finish soft or crisp, muted or lustrous? Make sure the warp and weft threads are on grain. Color must be complimentary to the individual, be it in solids, plaids, or stripes. If a plaid takes your fancy, consider your size, design proportions, and difficulty in matching. There is a difference between balanced and unbalanced plaids. Remember, unbalanced plaids do require added skill in matching if you are planning to home tailor some of your wardrobe.

III. Design of the garment must be suitable for the individual. Model the garment—sit and stand in it—and analyze it carefully, scrutinizing every detail of design for fashion rightness. The lines of bodice, neckline, sleeves, and skirt must provide attractiveness, comfort, and service. Look it over: details well done, stitching even, good construction throughout, proper lining for the design and fabric used. Consider, too, if the garment fits into your wardrobe. Can it be worn with garments you find in your closet.

IV. The label doesn't show but it tells many things about the garment. The label reveals: manufacturer's name and brand; fiber content; weight; washable or dry clean; new developments in wool such as water repellency, moth proofing, and permanent creasing. It also shows that a reputable manufacturer stands behind the product and is your guarantee of quality. The Pendleton label is a symbol of integrity based on years of experience in producing fine wools.

No Divorces in Spain, Marry Later in Life

"Women in Spain marry romance and custom, adopting when they are 23 to 25 years old. At 19, a girl has a whole bunch of friends but no marriage. She may be engaged seven or eight years. The men go into service, voluntary at 18 or 19, but draft after the 21st birthday. When he finishes military, he looks for a job, and marries around 29 or 30."

This is the feeling of Maria Stephens, a native of Madrid, Spain, who is the wife of Donald Morgan Meyer of Florissant; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Best of Crestwood; Mrs. Dortha (Sayre) McGuire of Campbell; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee (Patsy Hopper) Bixler of Cape Girardeau; and Mrs. Mary (Tharp) Griffin of Indianapolis, Indiana;

Mrs. Pauline (Kasinger) the United States, you have a credit and no money, this is good. But you have money and no credit, his is no good.

Mrs. Stephens met her husband through mutual acquaintances while he was serving with the U.S. Air Force in Spain. The couple now has two children, Pedro Luis who is seven and Maria de la Esperanza Macarena, called Micky by her friends and most of her family, both elementary school students in Sikeston and both bi-lingual.

Stephens, a military careerman, went to Vietnam in March. His family is staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stephens at 106 E. Kathleen during this tour.

Mrs. Stephens is learning to speak American. When she came to the United States the first time, she understood very little American and spoke none. Her children speak both American and Spanish fluently, and Mrs. Stephens, American is becoming stronger each day. But, American ways are still noticeably different from what she knows.

In Spain, she says, people go to work at 8 o'clock, and work until noon, go home, and return to work from 3 until 7 or 8 in the evening. Movies open at 7 or 7:30 in the evening and close at 1 or 2 o'clock. "Everything is open all night in Madrid, and here, everything closes at 10 o'clock!"

In Old Madrid, the old part of the city, there are tourist attraction restaurants where all the employees wore bandoleros costumes ("like Zorro, you know Zorro on television?"), boots, capes, hats and the shirt and pants sets. However, different from our common practices, in Madrid, the natives also frequent, with the "touristas," these special places.

Mrs. Stephens says once a girl marries, she stays in the home. And, when you marry, friends decorate your car with flowers inside... no old shoes or tin cans. Spain is a country of

Vets Produce For Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ernie Banks and Milt Pappas might not have said it but the pair of veteran Chicago Cubs are perfect examples of the familiar saying: If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

Banks, thwarted twice attempting to sacrifice bunt, swung away and crashed a three-run homer that snapped a 2-2 tie and sent the Cubs flying to a 9-3 triumph over Montreal Wednesday.

While Pappas, acquired late in June from Atlanta, after failing to win consistently with the Braves and the Cincinnati Reds before that, hurled six innings as he won his 10th game as a Cub.

The victory kept Chicago just one game off the pace of the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets, co-leaders in the torrid National League East battle.

The Pirates blanked St. Louis 2-0 on Luke Walker's two-hitter while the Mets had to go 14 innings before subduing the stubborn Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 on Cleon Jones' run-scoring triple.

In other games, San Francisco trounced Houston 11-0, Cincinnati battered Los Angeles 13-4 and San Diego edged Atlanta 3-2.

In the American League, Baltimore edged New York 2-1, Cleveland trounced Washington

13-4, Kansas City took a doubleheader from Milwaukee 2-0, 102, Boston belted Detroit 14-0 and Minnesota swept a twinbill from Oakland 6-1, 7-2.

The 39-year-old Banks also delivered a run-scoring single in the seventh inning and received a standing ovation when he left for a pinch hitter.

"I wish this was the first day of spring training and we were starting the season all over," aid Banks, who has only seen limited action in 63 games because of ailing knees.

It was Banks' 12th homer this season and No. 509 lifetime, placing the Chicago first baseman only two homers behind Mel Ott's 511 and the eighth spot on the all-time list. Pappas, 12-7 and 10-5 as a Cub, requested the start with only two days rest. He yielded four hits and left for a pinch hitter with a 7-3 lead.

"I volunteered to start because the chips are down now. I didn't get tired, but I was struggling and it was right to leave when I did," said the 31-year-old right-hander.

Pappas had nine successful seasons with Baltimore in the American League, winning 110 and losing 74 games before he was traded to the Reds in December of 1965 for Frank Robinson.

In 2 1/2 seasons with Cincinnati Pappas had a 30-29 mark before the Braves purchased him midway in 1968. With Atlanta he was 18-20 when Chicago got him on June 26.

Walker, 12-6, struck out nine and only walked one as the lefthander helped snap the Pirates losing streak at three games. The only hits Walker gave up were singles by Dal Maxvill in the third inning and Jim Beauchamp in the fifth.

Willie Stargell supported the southpaw with a solo homer, his 28th, in the second off loser Nelson Briles, 5-6. The Pirates added a run in the fourth on Bob Robertson's sacrifice fly.

Jones' one-out shot off the right-center field wall, scored Tommie Agee who had walked, sending the sizzling Mets to their sixth triumph in seven games. The two-run homer by John Briggs had tied it at 2-2 in the sixth for the Phils. The Mets got their two runs in the third as Bud Harrelson stole home and Art Shamsky had a run-scoring five.

The Padres spotted Atlanta a 2-0 lead on Oscar Brown's first major league homer, then rallied for three runs in the fifth, the last two on a double by Al Ferrara, to snap left-hander Dave Roberts' personal losing streak brother Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins in becoming the first brothers in major league history to capture 20 games in the same season. The Twins' righty is 22-11.

Lee May poled a grand slam homerun and Johnny Bench cracked his 44th homer and two singles for four more RBIs to pace the Reds' assault at Los Angeles. The victory gave the Reds a 14-game bulge over the second-place Dodgers in the West and reduced their titelinching magic number to one.

Perry Brothers Make History

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)

— When Gaylord and Jim Perry were starting jon the same high school and semi-pro baseball teams in Williamston, N.C., it never dawned on them they would some day make baseball history.

But they did Thursday when Gaylord blanked the Houston Astros on four hits in an 11-0 San Francisco Giants' romp.

The victory boosted Gaylord's record to 20-13 and, coupled with Jim's 22-11 mark with the Minnesota Twins, gave them the distinction of being the only brother team in major league history to win 20 games the same season.

"When we were youngsters," Gaylord recalls, "we never thought about winning games in the majors — we were just hoping we'd have a chance to get here."

Jim was a senior, and Gaylord a wild-throwing freshman when they led the Williamston High team to he state championship.

Orioles 'Magic No. 9'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bowie Kuhn won't let the Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators print World Series tickets, so they're passing the time away engraving each other.

While Baltimore and Minnesota, given go-aheads by the commissioner Thursday to begin taking Series ticket orders, continued their countdown to American League division titles, the Indians and Senators went at it again in their struggle for a better-than-last place finish in the East.

A spartan turnout of 2,746 in Cleveland's 76,997-seat Municipal Stadium saw the Indians outslug Washington's Frank Howard, four home runs to two, on the way to a 13-4 victory that sent them one game up on the Senators. Washington had won 5-4 Wednesday night to create a virtual fifth-place deadlock.

The Orioles nicked the New York Yankees 2-1 behind Dave McNally, reducing their magic number to nine for clinching a second successive East Division crown, and the Twins swept a doubleheader from Oakland 6-1 and 7-2 for a magic number of 12 to repeat as West Division champs.

Boston trounced Detroit 14-0 and Kansas City swept a twin bill from Milwaukee 2-0 and 10-2 in other AL action. The Chicago White Sox and California Angels were de. In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 2-0; the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 3-2 in 14 innings; the Chicago Cubs whipped Montreal 9-3; San Francisco walloped Houston 11-0; San Diego nudged Atlanta 3-2 and Cincinnati pated Los Angeles 13-4.

Howard slammed his 41st and 42nd homers for the Senators, but Ted Uhlaender, Roy Foster, Vada Pinson and John Lowenstein all reached the seats for the homer-happy Indians, enabling rookie Steve Dunning to gain his fourth pitching victory in 13 decisions.

Uhlaender drove in four runs with his 10th homer and a bunt single; Duke Sims drilled a three-run double and Foster, Pinson and newcomer Lowenstein hit homers No. 21, 20 and 1 respectively.

McNally flipped a six-hitter for his 22nd victory and Andy Etchebarren homered as the Orioles soared 11 games ahead of the second place Yanks in the East.

The Twins virtually buried Oakland's hopes by completing a three-game blitz of the second-place A's to move 8 1/2 lengths ahead in the West.

Left-hander Tom Hall scattered seven hits and struck out 11 in the opener. Brant Alyea's two-run single and a homer by Tony Oliva provided the second-game margin for southpaw Jim Kaat.

Mike Andrews and Carl Yastrzemski blasted three-run homers and drove in five and four runs, respectively, as the Red Sox pounded Detroit behind the three-hit pitching of Ray Culp.

Paul Schaal's two-run single and the four-hit pitching of Bill Butler and Ted Abernathy led the Royals past Milwaukee in the first game. They completed the sweep as Dick Drago scattered five hits and Lou Piniella knocked in four runs.

Calvin Harrell, Arkansas State's powerhouse tailback, gained only six yards in his first college game. He never has gained less than 107 yards in a complete game since that initial encounter in 1969. Harrell was hurt midway in the first period of one game last year, and already had gained 35 yards before being sidelined with an ankle sprain.

Royals Sweep Twin-Bill; Cards Checked By 2-Hitter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Royals got brilliant pitching Thursday night and swept a twin bill from he Milwaukee Brewers 2-0 and 10-2 to take a three-game advantage over Milwaukee in their race for fourth in the American League West. The St. Louis Cardinals lost a 2-0 game to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The double victory extended Kansas City's winning streak to four games. Dick Drago scattered five hits, including Bob Burda's fourth home run in the second, and was credited with his eighth victory against 14 losses.

Lou Piniella triggered a five run sixth inning with a three-run double and drove in another run in the seventh when the Royals erupted for five more runs.

Bill Butler, 4-11, making his first start since being recalled from Omaha, allowed three hits in the opener before Royals' ace reliever, bailed him out of a ninth-inning jam. When Abernathy entered, Butler had only one out and had walked two.

Paul Schaal drove in both runs with a fourth inning single.

The Cardinals lost to Pittsburgh when they were unable to solve the pitching of Luke Walker, who tossed a two-hitter. Willie Stargell hit his 28th home run off loser Nelson Biles, 5-6, in the second inning.

Dal Maxvill got a single in the third inning and Jim Beauchamp hit one in the fifth for the only St. Louis hits.

The Royals are hosts tonight to the Oakland Athletics and will pitch Wally Bunker, 1-9, against Diego Segui, 10-10. St. Louis moves over to New York to face the Mets, tied for first with Pittsburgh in the NL's East Division. The Cardinals ace, Bob Gibson, 20-6, will go against the Mets' best, Tom Seaver, 18-10.

Welcome back, my friends. Too many months have passed since last we communicated. Of course, with all of us, many good and appreciable things occurred. But in the world of football, time has stood still, and only now has the blood pulsations of our national game cause us all to stir and prepare.
It doesn't appear that there will be any particular change from last season... with Cape Central the favorite in the North, Malden the South and Gideon, ISC and South Pem. in the Bootheel. BUT I WOULDN'T BET ON IT...
This will be a very interesting season in each division as each team seems to have a good number of veterans along with letterman, which will mean good races in all three divisions.
We'll take a crack at giving you some idea of who might be the big spoilers in this season's race:
How about starting off in the South, where about all seven teams are well matched... We see East Prairie and Portageville in the thick of the race along with Malden and Caruthersville... but don't count out Chaffee, Dexter and Hayti... but our pick is... Portageville.
The North has seven good teams. Kennett will have a respectable season and then watch out, Cape is the favorite of most, but we'll have to go with Charleston and Poplar Bluff. Injuries have all but ruled out the Sikeston Bulldogs, who could though with its tradition add another division championship.
Down in the Bootheel league, Ilmo-Scott City is our pick over the other three... Gideon, South Pemiscot and Delta C-7
Now for a first hand look at tonight's results:
FESTUS AT CAPE CENTRAL — The Bengals will flex their muscles in this one... Something like 49-7.
HAYTI AT CHARLESTON — This will be one of the better matches of the evening. The Bluejays need a lift and tonight's 35-14 win will provide it.
DEXTER AT JACKSON — Another good match... The Tribe seem ready to add a little sting to the North race and to start off with a 21-14 win tonight will give them needed confidence.
PERRYVILLE AT STE. GENEVIEVE — This game should bring out a big crowd and a big point production from the Pirates... 42-21.
POPLAR BLUFF AT GLENDALE — This has always been an enjoyable trip for the Mules, but this one won't... Glendale 20-P.B. 14.
SIKESTON AT MAYFIELD, KY. — Most have little hope for the injury riddled Bulldogs in this match against Ky.'s best. Some have quoted scores of 55-14, 48-7, and 42-0... but we see a little better game... but a loss... 28-13.
DELTA C-7 AT CARUTHERSVILLE — This won't even be a game... Caruthersville 55-0.
CHAFFEE AT VALLE — What have the Red Devils done... scheduling Valle, who has always been tough. Chaffee is tough too, though and we see the Devils with a 21-7 win. This will be Saturday night.
ISC AT EAST PRAIRIE — Henry Franklin will be the big difference in this game as he'll run for three TD's in the Eagles' 28-14 win.
MALDEN AT KENNETT — Anything can happen in this traditional match and this game isn't any exception, although the Indians come off a winless season. The Waves have the horses and will out-due the Tribe... 35-7.
PORTAGEVILLE AT ST. VINCENT — This will be a long trip for the Bulldogs, but brining the victory back home will shorten it. Portageville 28, St. Vincent 14.
SOUTH PEMISCOT AT GIDEON — The only league encounter set tonight... and it could decide the league title. Gideon has the home field advantage but we'll go with the Bulldogs for the mild upset... 21-14.

Carolina Loses Cager

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Tom McMillen is safely registered and tucked away at the University of Maryland ending his odyssey of indecision.

"I am happy to be here," the 6-foot-11 Mansfield, Pa., High School basketball star said Thursday night. But then he headed for bed to fight a cold and physical and emotional fatigue.

McMillen was expected to head for the University of North Carolina this week to fulfill his letter of intent to attend that school.

His sudden change of plans and his decision to register at Maryland was reported in the Elmira, N.Y., Gazette Thursday. "I am pleased, yet surprised at Tom's decision," said Lefty Driesell, Maryland's basketball coach. "I have not talked to Tom or seen him in over two months."

McMillen, 18, cited "personal and family reasons" in the Gazette for his decision to switch from UNC to Maryland. He said it was no reflection on North Carolina coach Dean Smith or his program.

"As far as I am concerned, this matter is finally closed," he was quoted.

Smith was informed of McMillen's change of plans in Germany where he is on a lecture trip.

"I am sorry Tom will not be a part of our basketball program at North Carolina," he said. "he's a fine young man and I wish him every success."

Jack Williams, sports publicity director at the Chapel Hill campus, said the coach talked with McMillen by telephone Monday night from Germany.

Williams said Smith told McMillen then that he would be willing to fly back from Germany at that time if it would help but didn't because "Tom told him the problems were not that serious."

In addition to being a top athlete, McMillen was a top student. After his registration, he said "I can now concentrate on my pre-med courses which will occupy most of my time until basketball practice starts."

The question of which college McMillen would attend made headlines in July when he announced he would attend North Carolina and his parents stated that if he did, he was "not going with our blessings."

Tom's parents could not be reached for comment Thursday after their son had registered for school.

Although Tom signed a letter of intent, his parents did not cosign it.

The late James Weaver, commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, of which Maryland and UNC are members, said before his death the letter was worthless without the signatures of parents or guardians.

McMillen was sought after by about 225 colleges and universities.

His high academic ability combined with his unanimous selection to the Pennsylvania All-State Basketball team and his 3,008 career points for Mansfield High made him the ideal No. 1 recruiting choice of college coaches.

Trojans Pick of Far West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago, Southern California's Trojans beat Stanford by two points and UCLA by two points and the sum of four points over their toughest Pacific-8 rivals put USC into the Rose Bowl a fourth straight time.

For 1970, the Trojans have their backfield returning intact, some other fine offensive performers and a defense which had to be rebuilt around Charlie Weaver and Tody Smith, the returnees from the "Wild Bunch" front line which made life miserable for opposing quarterbacks.

Now they go into a season many believe will be the year of the quarterback all around. USC has Jimmy Jones, UCLA has Dennis Dismitt and Stanford has Jim Plunkett, the second team All American selection of 1969.

Jerry Frei, the coach at Oregon, observed, "It looks as if everybody is going to have a great offense. There are more quarterbacks and running backs returning than I've seen in a while. But, the championship could wind up going to the team with the best defense."

Coach John McKay of USC cuts the line a little finer, saying, "If you don't play pass defense, you're going to get beat."

What's true in the Pacific-8 also is true in the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona State, 8-2 in 1969, has its quarterback, Joe Spagnola, returning. Arizona has Brian Linstrom who set conference sophomore total offense and passing records last year. Wyoming has Gary Fox and Ed Synakowski, who alternated a year ago. Utah has Gordon "Scooter" Longmire, a transfer from Michigan State.

The Sun Devils of Arizona State won the conference title last year when they played one more conference game than Utah which also had an 8-2 overall mark and which also lost but one WAC game.

Sports writers and sportscasters in the Rocky Mountain area tabbed Arizona State to repeat as champion with Utah second, Arizona third and Wyoming fourth.

Southern California will be hard pressed to retain its "Best in the West" title. The Trojans must nevertheless figure high in the national ratings. They placed third in The Associated Press poll of a year ago.

In addition to Jones, they have flanker Bobby Chandler, fullback Charlie Evans and tailback Clarence Davis returning. From the frosh, they have fullback Sam Cunningham, tailback Rod McNeill and quarterback Mike Rae.

Weaver, at 214 and 6 foot 2, leads the Trojans' defensive charge and could be the Trojans' No. 1 candidate for postseason honors.

Stanford's bid to halt the dominance of the Los Angeles teams rests with Plunkett, a 6-foot 3 senior weighing 204. A year ago, he completed 197 passes in 336 attempts for 2,373 yards and 20 touchdowns.

Bears Meet NFL Champs In Final Exhibition Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Halas can get a quick idea tonight which direction his money would have gone when his Chicago Bears close their pre-season schedule against last year's Central Division and National Football League champion Minnesota Vikings.

Halas, the 75-year-old owner of the Bears, for some reason or another felt enough confidence in the Bears that he was willing to lay down $15,000 at Las Vegas odds of 20-1 that they would win the Central Division title this year.

Now, not only are the Vikings a strong favorite to defend their division crown, but the Bears would have to come back from a 1-13 record in 1969 to prove Halas a prophet.

Mizzou Heavily Favored

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Missouri, despite a questionable quarterback situation, will be heavily favored tonight when the 11th-ranked Tigers tangle with Baylor in St. Louis in the season's opener for both football teams.

Missouri, in fact, has two junior quarterbacks, Mike Farmer and Chuck Roper, who have never earned a varsity letter but have shown just about equal ability in preseason workouts.

Baylor will call on Laney Cook, a left-hander, who completed only 12 of 59 passes last year for 162 yards.

Missouri, sixth ranked last season, was the Big Eight Conference co-champion with Nebraska and won nine and lost two, including a 10-3 defeat by Penn State in the Orange Bowl. Baylor lost all 10 of its games in 1969.

Five other Big Eight teams open the season Saturday and Sunday night.

Nebraska is host to Wake Forest, Kansas entertains Washington State at Lawrence, and Kansas State meets Utah State at Manhattan in afternoon contests. Oklahoma faces Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex., and Oklahoma State invades Jackson, Miss., to test Mississippi State in night games.

Colorado and Iowa State launch their season Sept. 19.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine probably won't decide whether Farmer or Roper will get the starting assignment against Baylor until close to game time — 9 p.m., EDT. He has said the two players likely will split playing time equally.

Ninth-ranked Nebraska, like Missouri, expects to use two quarterbacks although one of them, Van Brownson, may not play against Wake Forest because of a sore elbow. Jerry Tagge, the other quarterback, has been nursing a sore leg muscle but should be ready for the Deacons. If neither Brownson nor Tagge is ready, the Cornhuskers will depend on sophomore Bob Jones.

Coach Pepper Rodgers said Kansas needs "to be a little sharper" than in practice for Washington State and was disturbed because rain cut short Wednesday's workout.

The Jayhawks are pinning their quarterback hopes on confident Dan Heck, a junior college transfer, and have a slight edge over Washington State chiefly on the brilliant running of John Riggins and receivers Ron Jessie, Lucius Turner, Xerk White and Marvin Foster.

Kansas State is showing some concern about the passing of Utah State's new quarterback Tony Adams, but the Wildcats, with star quarterback Lynn Dickey waiting to fill the air with their own passes, are favored by wide margin.

Jerry Quarry See's Battle With Clay As Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — It will be a nontitle fight scheduled for 15 rounds, but as far as Jerry Quarry is concerned it will be for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Why? Because Quarry's opponent on the night of Oct. 26 in Atlanta will be Cassius Clay.

"I feel I would be the champion if I won," Quarry said Thursday as he and Clay formally signed for the fight at a packed news conference at a midtown hotel Thursday.

"Nobody ever took the title away from him (Clay) in the ring," added the Bellflower, Calif., fighter.

"I regard myself as the retired champ; Joe Frazier is the active, recognized champ," said Clay who was stripped of his title after being convicted of refusing induction into the Army — a conviction that still is being appealed.

Should Clay beat Quarry and Frazier get by light heavyweight king Bob Foster in November, the road would be open for a Clay-Frazier fight.

But right now it is Quarry and ring rustiness that face Clay.

"I don't think any human can be the same after laying off for three years," said Clay whose last fight was a seven-round knockout of Zora Foley March 22, 1967.

However, he did spar eight rounds in a recent exhibition in Atlanta.

Clay, who lives in Philadelphia and still wants to be known as Muhammad Ali, called the very fact that Atlanta has granted a license for the fight "a victory for justice."

He also pointed out that during his exile from the ring, "I never tried to get a fight. It was the promoters. I never pushed. I said 'If you get one, I'll take it.'"

Oklahoma will display a new type of offense to Southern Methodist. The Sooner attack is centered around highly publicized Jack Mildren, the junior quarterback, and Coach Chuck Fairbanks has spent most of the week drilling on execution and the kicking game.

Oklahoma State will unveil its junior college transfer quarterback, Tony Pounds, against Mississippi State. The Cowboys hope to offset an expected Mississippi State aerial attack with Pounds' pitching plus the running of sophomore James Williams and Wayne Hallmark.

Central Mo. Kicks Off

Central Missouri is the only Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association team which opens its football campaign this week. The Mules play non-conference game Saturday night at Central Missouri.

Central Missouri, which won five and lost four last season, figures to have a solid offensive attack built around quarterback Steve Eckinger and wingback Reggie James.

Eckinger will have his favorite target in wide receiver Ed Coats, who led the conference last season with 51 receptions for 916 yards.

Also back s Steve Reeves, who made good on six of eight field goal attempts and 30 of 33 extra point attempts last season.

Central Methodist goes to Missouri Valley Saturday night for a Missouri Collegiate Athletic Union Conference game. In nonconference action, William Jewell is host to Simpson in a Saturday afternoon contest and Tarkio plays at Peru, Neb., at night.

Missouri uthern, an independent team, visits Fort Hays, Kan., State for a Saturday night tilt.

POLLY'S POINTERSKeep Children's Interest
High on Camping Trips

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how to really remove formula stains from baby's clothes. I have tried different presoak products with no results.—
MRS. C. W. S.

DEAR POLLY—We have a refinishing shop and I would like to tell Mrs. W. how we clean wicker trunks that are not painted. If in a natural finish, we wash them in white gasoline (outdoors), using a soft paint brush. After they are thoroughly clean, spray with three coats of flat lacquer. Painted pieces first have to be stripped and then washed with the gasoline.—MRS. G. C. M.

DEAR POLLY—During years of family-style camping we have picked up some small helps. When we started camping we had six children, ages three to 10, and they soon tired of hiking, nature study and woodcraft. As a result they wanted something different to do, so we started packing one overnight case with games for various ages and many a hot afternoon was quietly spent playing games under a shady tree. Now that the children are grown the games have been reduced to the cribbage board and gin rummy deck but past memories will never be put away.

At home all ends of soap bars are put in a plastic bag and then taken along and one of these placed on the washstand will last for a day at a camp. We never bother with a soap dish. After one nasty experience with a child stepping barefooted on a tent peg we hit on the idea of putting a paper cup upside down over each peg. Being white and clearly visible they outlined these danger points.

Besides the first-aid kit (a cigar box) which travels in the car we have another box which holds readily accessible suntan lotion, sunglasses and mosquito spray. This box also holds any first-aid sprays and a can of spray for sunburn relief and is kept securely tied and hidden under the seat as spray cans are so inviting to toddlers and so dangerous when misused. These things are still important as our first half-dozen are just about grown and we are beginning our second family, so even the game chest will not be permanently retired.—MRS. W. D.

Legislator Warns Repression Will Follow Violence

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State College faculty members were welcomed back to the campus Tuesday with a warning that "academic freedom will suffer and repression will follow" if violence and destruction on college campuses is not curbed soon.

The warning was issued by State Rep. James E. Spain of Bloomfield, a 1955 graduate of Southeast Missouri State.

Representative Spain told the professors that college faculties as a whole, rightly or wrongly, are being blamed by the general public for widespread violence which has occurred on various campuses.

He said this topic is foremost in the minds of the people of District 151, whom he represents, and indeed throughout Missouri and across the country. "The people are confused, upset, and they don't understand why this is happening," he said.

He added, "Politicians are being rivaled, as a target for public criticism, by the intellectual academic world."

Spain, a Democrat running for a third term in the Missouri House, said 32 states during the past year enacted laws dealing with campus unrest, the strongest laws coming from those states which have experienced the most unrest.

"The American people believe they are sitting on a powder keg as the new school year opens," he said, adding this attitude has hurt higher education throughout the country.

Spain said the factor of money to finance higher education is involved in that the people and their representatives are reluctant to vote the tax money which the colleges and universities say they need.

"I'm not condemning long hair and loud music," Rep. Spain said, "and I welcome talk of change, but am seriously disturbed by talk of revolution. It's time for the academic world to brand the few for what they are. It certainly should not be difficult to condemn unlawful conduct. Professors should not defend the indefensible."

The state representative said that in his opinion the intellectual-academic world is rivaling politicians for low esteem in the public eye.

Spain said that he has talked to large numbers of people, a majority of whom are concerned with disorder on college campuses and the talk of revolution.

He said citizens generally believe they are "sitting on a powder keg just because it is the beginning of a new school year."

They are placing the blame directly on college teachers and college students, Spain declared.

Following Rep. Spain's talk, Dr. Mark F. Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State, had some remarks on the same theme, and he emphasized it is up to the faculties of colleges and universities to help restore higher education to the esteemed place it formerly enjoyed.

The president stressed that conduct or example in the community is one of the best ways for faculty members to help accomplish this goal.

In other remarks, Dr. Scully told the faculty that the growth in college enrollments is beginning to taper off and indicated he does not expect Southeast Missouri State to register any large gains in the next few years.

He also indicated he views his as a good thing, saying, "There is a limit to the number of students a community can absorb comfortably."

Dr. Scully also told the faculty that the college will ask the forthcoming legislature for an appropriation of $8,212,994 as opposed to its appropriation for this fiscal year of $6,728,727. But he said he did not really expect the college to get as much as it requests.

Southeast Missouri State opens its 97th year of classes Friday (Sept. 11). Slightly more than 7,000 students are expected.

Short Census Complaints
To Be Heard in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Complaints of several hundred cities that the 1970 census count is short—particularly in the slums—will get an extensive congressional hearing next week. Leadoff witnesses are New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, who says a sixth of the New Yorkers spot checked were not counted, and Census Director George H. Brown, who says he thinks the census will prove to be the most accurate in U.S. history.

Chairman Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., announced Tuesday his House census subcommittee hearing on the nationwide count last April 15 will begin Tuesday.

Wilson has asked the Census Bureau to be ready to answer complaints of New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Birmingham that their inner cities were undercounted and to complaints of several hundred smaller cities that their tallies were short.

Some officials of the major cities attribute the alleged slum undercount to people hiding from census takers because they were violating housing ordinances or welfare laws or evading the draft.

Some small cities stated their evidence indicates a large population. Others contended blocks of citizens were credited to the surrounding county rather than to the city.

But Census Director Brown told newsmen last week that in all cases in which a city has conducted its own count it found even fewer residents than the census takers. He said the Census Bureau's own rechecks, involving 6.5 million persons, discovered only 4,200 who had been missed the first time around.

House subcommittee investigators who recently toured eight major cities said officials of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston and Dallas agreed with the bureau's tally.

The most specific complaint so far is from Lindsay. He announced last week a spot check of 1,808 New Yorkers found 311 persons, mostly in low-income areas, who had not been counted. Of 362 families, he said, 66 had not been counted.

The New York Regional Planning Association says the bureau's tally may be off as much as 200,000 persons and should show a population of 7.9 million instead of 7.7 million. But this is based on the Census Bureau's own estimate that about 4 million servicemen, ship crewmen and the like, have not been counted nationwide yet not on an estimate of New Yorkers alone.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., charged Tuesday that 3,867 people may have been missed in Milwaukee's inner city because up-to-date city records show 1,289 more dwelling units than the Census Bureau sent questionnaires to. The units should average three residents each, he said.

Reuss said the Census Bureau should confirm the additional dwelling units and send questionnaires to them.

and trial was set for September 24. Lucas was released on $300 personal bond. George Greer paid a $26.50 fine and Edward Cross paid a $28.50 fine on charges of peace disturbance. Similar charges against Landon Sterling and Ruby Davis Sterling were dismissed on payment of $18.60 court costs.

A $24 fine was levied William E. Driddle on a speeding charge and a $36 was assessed Harold J. Uthoff for permitting an unauthorized operator to drive.

Fines of $17 each were levied Walter Whitney for having an expired vehicle license and Charles C. Gross for violation of the wildlife code.

Judge Brown sentenced Bill Barker to 30 days in the county jail for being in an intoxicated condition on public street.

Charles Buttry was given a 30 day suspended jail sentence on a charge of non-support. He was placed on probation for one year on condition he pay $10 a week child support and $12 court costs.

In a recovery of possession suit brought by Dee Jennings against Lillian Isbell, judgement was found for the plaintiff to recover possession of premises in lot 3, block 2, Russell and Deal's addition to Charleston together with $36 accrued rent and $8 court costs.

$217, 084, 275Spent on State
Roads in Year

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Highway Commission reported today its highway construction and improvement program for the 1970 fiscal year, which ended June 30, totaled $217,084,275.

The 1969 fiscal year program totaled $283,063,720; and the current 1971 program is expected to run about $262,818,000.

This year's program Director of Highways Thomas A. David emphasized, was based on the assumption of full federal financing. But, he pointed out, the federal administration already has announced an approximate 20 per cent cutback in funds for the first quarter.

The work included construction, improvements and right of way purchases.

Total mileage involved amounted to 2,408.4 miles. Highway contracts awarded during the period amounted to $183,792,889; with right of way purchases totaling $26,478,207. The remaining $7,859,337 was obligated for oil surface treatment of Supplementary roads, flashing light signals at railroad grade crossings; and maintenance projects let by contract.

The largest amount of money involved the state's Interstate highway system. A total of $102,875,866 was awarded to contract on 204.1 miles and $7,258,625 went for the purchase of right of way.

Primary system work totaled $59,372,600; with $49,772,465 going for construction contracts on 230.1 miles and $9,600,135 for the purchase of right of way.

On the state's Urban highway system contracts totaling $15,095,822 were let for construction and improvements on 23.3 miles and $6,067,379

Including Col. L. Gordon Cooper, former astronaut, and Dr. Edward Teller, nuclear physicist, the party departed Monday afternoon following a Sunday float trip on the Current River and time spent enjoying the Ozark region near Van Buren.

Arrangements for the Labor Day excursion were made by Dr. J. R. Maxfield Jr., nuclear and radiological physician, who has private practice in Dallas, Tex.

A friend of Montgomery, he had visited at the latter's Current River place, and contacted his friends who assembled on Saturday at Dallas. From there Dr. Maxwell flew them to Sikeston aboard a DC3 aircraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery entertained them at their Sikeston home and after dinner at Two Tonys Restaurant the group drove to the Montgomery property adjoining Big Spring State Park to the south.

On arrival here Saturday the group mingled with a group of Sikeston residents who had assembled at the airport here to greet them, introducing themselves and shaking hands.

Col. Cooper was singled out by many, since he was readily recognized from his many photographs in the news as a pilot on Mercury and Gemini programs in the nation's space program. He flew Faith 7, the last of the Mercury series, in 22 orbits around the Earth, and was pilot of Gemini 5, Aug. 21-29, 1965, in 120 orbits. He was commander of the backup crew for Apollo 10, but did not participate in any Apollo flights.

Col. Cooper now heads his own engineering firm, which he said expects to soon have permanent headquarters at Miami, Fla.

High School Administrators Will Meet

CAPE GIRARDEAU — About 125 junior and senior high school administrators are expected next Wednesday on the Southeast Missouri State College campus for the annual fall meeting of the Southeast Missouri Secondary School Principals' Association.

Theme of the meeting, according to Dr. Willard J. Morgan, director of school services at the college, will be "The Future of the Principalship." Feature of the morning session will be a symposium on "Work Stoppage: Where does the Principal Stand?"

Three principals and a school superintendent will discuss the topic. They are James Englehart, principal of Central junior high school in Cape Girardeau; Herbert Hutsell, principal of Cleveland High School in St. Louis; Marshall Smith, superintendent of the Twin River R-X District in Broseley; and Frank Wilkinson, principal of Poplar Bluff junior high school.

The same four men will be consultants during a question and answer session in the afternoon.

The conference, to be held in the ballroom of Memorial Hall on the campus, will begin with registration and coffee at 9:30 a.m. The morning session will get under way at 10:30 with Raymond A. Pense, president of the principals' organization, presiding. Pense is principal of Perryville Senior High School.

Other officers of the association are John DeArman, principal of Dexter High School, vice president, and Marlin Hawkins, principal of Jackson Junior High School, secretary-treasurer.

Prior to the start of the symposium, Dr. David A. Strand, dean of the college, will welcome the group to the campus.

DeArman will preside at a luncheon in the ballroom beginning at noon. Dr. Mark F. Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State, will address the group at the luncheon.

Following lunch, the principals will divide into four groups for a 30-minute discussion of the conference theme. They will reconvene in the ballroom at 1:40 p.m. for the question and answer session. A business meeting is set for 2:15 p.m. and adjournment for 2:30 p.m.

Leaders of the 30-minute small group discussions will be Larry Ackley, principal of Farmington high school; Leon C. Brinkopf, assistant principal at Central junior high school in Cape Girardeau; Dewain Ward, principal of Bloomfield high school; and John Shock, principal of Holcomb high school.

Recorders will be Joe H. Parkinson, principal of Caruthersville Senior High School; Elmer Dunn, assistant principal of Potosi Senior High School; Henry Deeter, principal of North Junior High School in Kennett; and Otha Kyles, principal of Central Junior High School in Hayti.

Dear Editor

I have never hated the black people. I have always advocated equal rights. I do not however believe in pampering them and I feel this is just exactly what our school officials have done and are doing.

For example the black football players had a bus to ride to and from football practice while we white mothers made four trips to take our players before school started and still pick them up at six. We want a bus also!

A white girl can have her face slapped, her hair pulled and be called all kind of names. If she loses her temper and returns a blow, both are expelled. If she doesn't return a lick the black goes back to class. What do the school officials say? "The white girls know better." Hows the black to learn?

Any girl wishing to be a Red Pepper can be one if she does the requirements. In order to be a cheer leader a white girl must be a Red Pepper for a year. She goes to camp which costs $150.00. She also practices all summer. Not so if you are black. The blacks claim they don't have enough representation - but what's to keep them from doing the requirement and becoming Red Peppers? Surely not the meager dues - the school could pay that - they buy football shoes for the blacks.

In middle school if a white child breaks the lunch line he goes to the back of the line. If it's a black nobody notices. I shall give Mr. Barnes credit for trying but I believe Mr. Elledge is just plain scared.

Yes, give the black equal rights but also give them equal responsibilities. Let them merit their rewards.

The song they sang at High School last week "We shall overcome" well I'm not so sure but what they haven't damn well done it.

Two Injured

Two area accidents, one in Madison and the other in Wayne county, sent three to hospitals for treatment.

Opal Jean Richards, 21, St. Charles, lost control of her 1967 Chevrolet while rounding a curve, went down an embankment and overturned.

The accident occurred Thursday at 8:45 p.m. on highway 67, one and one-half miles north of Greenville.

Mrs. Richards received cuts and bruises, and her three-year old son, William Richards Jr., bruises.

Both were treated at Doctors hospital in Poplar Bluff, and released.

Helen Kauffman, 59, Fredericktown, told the patrol an unidentified car forced her 1970 Ford off the road, Thursday at 1:30 p.m. on route T, five miles west of Fredericktown.

Her car went off the road and struck a fence. She was treated at Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown for a back injury.

Manager Don Gutteridge of the Chicago White Sox managed Indianapolis in the Pacific Coast League in 1967. The team finished second in the Eastern division.

More Housing Needed Say Area Planners

MALDEN — A News and Views pamphlet issued by the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, Malden, stated there is a need for more public housing in the six county Bootheel.

AT present there are 1,150 public housing units. A total of 642 are planned and there are at least 1,437 applications for public housing.

According to the pamphlet, what is planned will not meet the existing need, which is growing.

Of the six counties, Scott, Pemiscot, and Dunklin counties are in the need of the most public housing.

Scott county has 225 units with 50 planned and 228 persons on the waiting list. Pemiscot county has 346 units with 152 planned and 448 on the waiting list. Dunklin county has 314 units with none planned and 321 on the waiting list.

Mississippi county has 100 units with 120 planned and at least 150 on the waiting list. New Madrid county has 84 units with 220 planned and at least 175 on the waiting list. Stoddard county has 82 units with 100 planned and 115 on the waiting list.

Council of Churches in Money Bind

By Editorial Research Reports
WASHINGTON — Twenty years ago, 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations created the National Council of Churches "to do together those things which can better be done united than separated." Today, the NCC comprises 33 churches representing a laity of more than 41 million. Ecumenism is still the goal. But cracks have appeared in the Council's solidarity.

Religious differences have been largely overcome, but secular ones have not. The NCC's legislative are, the 250-member general board, has taken liberal stands on everything from the Vietnam war to lowering the voting age. Meanwhile, conservative churchgoers complain that the board has lost touch with grassroots opinion. And the ideological splintering has been hastened by a financial crisis. The council ran up a $1.8 million deficit on a budget of $27.3 million last year.

Faced with these problems, the council has proposed four "options" for change, any one of which would mean a major overhaul of the body. Basically, the choices are: (1) elimination of the general board and decentralization of the council's activities; (2) recognition to make the NCC merely a forum of opinion with few programs; (3) creation of a new body to be devoted solely to social justice or (4) creation of an even more centralized body with less responsibility to individual churches.

A final decision on these options will await the triennial General Assembly in 1972. But an indication of how church officials, the clergy and the laity are thinking will be provided when the general board holds a two-day meeting in Phoenix beginning Saturday. Observers believe the council is heading toward a policy which will allow member churches to disassociate themselves from the programs they do not like. This would weaken the NCC's now controversial voice in secular affairs, but it could burnish the body's significance as an agency of social service. A somewhat looser organization might also encourage Roman Catholic and other denominations to take out full membership in the council.

Connecticut citizens had an average income of $4,537 in 1969, the highest in the U. S., says the Department of Commerce.

ARMED FORCES

BLITHEVILLE AFB, ARK. — Nine members of an elite base club that never holds a meeting are marking personal calendars for the next Red Cross bloodmobile visit September 15 and 16.

The only tie that binds the four military personnel and five base civilian employees into the unofficial "Gallon Club" is the small, red metal pin shaped in the form of a drop of blood. The pin identifies each wearer as having donated, to date, a gallon or more of his blood while at Blitheville.

Currently the small group is headed by Staff Sergeant Clarence Long, Jr., 97th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron, who has contributed 14 pints of blood at Red Cross bloodmobiles at Kingsley Hall Service Club since October, 1966. Senior Master Sergeant Francis A. League, Strategic Air Command Management Engineering Team (SACMET), has given 13 pints since the same 1966 bloodmobile visit and Master Sergeant John E. Loible, 97th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron, has donated 11 pints since 1967. Also aiming at a second gallon pin is Technical Sergeant Daniel W. Moore, 97th Headquarters Squadron, who has made nine bloodmobile donations since 1967.

Harold W. Holloway, 97th Civil Engineering Squadron, leads a dedicated group of base civil service employees with a record of 11 pints of blood donated since 1967. He is followed by base Fire Chief Anthony Zielinski, 10 pints; Lehmon C. Rapart, 97th Civil Engineering Squadron, 9 pints; James W. Boren, 97th Supply Squadron and Eva D. Worlund, of the base Commissary, both of whom have contributed 8 pints in the past three years.

Red Cross Field Director, Frank R. Anderson, in revealing the outstanding donor records of the "Gallon Club", pointed out that 200 pints of blood will be needed at each of the four fiscal year 1971 visits of the bloodmobile to assure Blitheville of meeting its annual quota of 800 pints.

Under Twenty

Dear Astrid

Dear Astrid:
I am 18 years old. For over a year I've been going steady with a boy (so he is 20 years old) whom I love. I've recently met another boy who is 18 and I would really like to date him. I'm afraid to break up with the first boy, fearing that I'm only infatuated with him. So now, when I'm with my steady I radiate an atmosphere of discontent. The trouble is I'm beginning to wonder if I really love him. Any suggestions or comments would help very, very much.

Always Scared
Dear Always Scared:
The fact that you are at least partially interested in the other boy is an indication that you have some doubts about your relationship with your steady. There will never be a better time in your life to resolve those doubts than right now. You know that you can't have your cake and eat it, too, and you know that you can't just cheat on your steady. Is there some way you could get to know this boy better without dating him to find out what you like about him and if it's for real? Are there things about your steady that make you restless to look around? If your interest is no further kindled all you can do is tell your steady that you feel it would be best for both of you if you made sure of your ground before going into a deeper relationship. Trust your instincts because you are on the threshold of a really serious decision of your life.

Dear Astrid:
I want to know how to get a handsome, intelligent and loveable boy. I would also like to know why so-called friends like to pick at me. All I know is that I think they do because I am very intelligent and loveable. I am not very popular with the boys.

Dear Astrid:
Your answer lies pretty much in your letter. You seem to have a very high opinion of yourself and this is combined with a very demanding nature in terms of the kind of boy you want. It's good to think of yourself as better than others is a sure way to drive boys and girls away from you at jet speeds. Use the intelligence you have to consider how others react to you. Don't always be "Mr. Right Guy." A little bit of modesty can go a long, long way.

Dear Astrid:
I am 16 and like a girl who goes to the same school as I. I used to go steady with her but my mother told me to drop her. I don't know whether or not she still likes me. I still love her and want to go back with her. I am afraid to ask her to go back. What shall I do?

Dear Astrid:
You can't do much until you get your problems ironed out with your mother. At 16 it is normal for a boy to date and unless the girl has something mother should have no objections. When you get over tell your steady that you feel it would be best for both of you if you made sure of your ground before going into a deeper relationship. Trust your instincts because you are on the threshold of a really serious decision of your life.

Dear Astrid:
I want to know how to get a handsome, intelligent and loveable boy. I would also like to know why so-called friends like to pick at me. All I know is that I think they do because I am very intelligent and loveable. I am not very popular with the boys.

Guilty Plea Entered To Filing False Ballot Affidavits

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Mrs. Sidonia Osborn, 54, accused of vote fraud, pleaded guilty Tuesday in Circuit Court to a lesser charge of filing false absentee ballot affidavits in a 1968 primary election.

The case against Mrs. Osborn, wife of St. Louis County Councilman Maurice "Babe" Osborn, a Pine Lawn Democrat, has been continued 17 times since her indictment in 1969.

Charges against her stemmed from the handling of ballots at a nursing home in St. Ann, Mo.

Mrs. Osborn, represented by former Atty. Gen. Norman Anderson, remained free on $1,000 bond pending sentencing, set by Judge James Ruddy for Oct. 8.

If You Were the Judge Caller Must Heed Warning about Dog

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Freddy was an energetic salesman who had the wind taken out of his sails. He approached Mr. Jones in the latter's garden in the hopes of selling him a power lawn mower.

Nearby, chained to a pole, was a German shepherd dog that growled with the ferocity of a woman scorned. Warned by Mr. Jones to stay away from the snarling canine, Freddy nevertheless ventured too close in his dogged and enthusiastic effort to make a sale. Whereupon the dog lurched at and lunched on Freddy's backside.

Freddy sued Mr. Jones for the cost of the luncheon, demanding damages for his injuries.

"What's he want from me?" protested Mr. Jones in court, "I told him to stay away from the dog."

"I thought barking dogs never bite," was Freddy's answer. "Besides, a man who harbors such a vicious animal does so at his own risk, not mine."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Mr. Jones pay for Freddy's injured derriere?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that considering that Freddy had been properly warned to stay away from the chained dog, he failed to exercise care for his own safety by venturing within its biting range. That he was guilty of contributory negligence and, therefore, was not entitled to collect. (Based upon a 1970 Kentucky Court of Appeals Decision)

Sheriff Needs More Manpower

Tom Gilmore, prosecuting attorney of Scott County, said the county sheriff's department needs more men - "right now, at least two more to help in investigations."

Sheriff John Dennis agrees. "I intend to ask the county for this," Gilmore said.

The sheriff's office has three deputies, far fewer than is recommended for one officer per 1,000 people. Gilmore said:

"If the people want to have good law enforcement then it's going to take more. We are just very fortunate we have a sheriff like John Dennis. He's the only thing that keeps us floating."

With present manpower, Dennis said, there "is no way we police the county the way it should be, 24 hours a day and seven days a week. Half the calls we get, we can't get to for a day or two."

Truck Load Laws

Will Be Reviewed

By SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

EAST PRAIRIE — The city council last night instructed City Attorney Fielding Potashnick to review ordinances pertaining to the load restrictions on the city streets.

This followed discussion on a complaint by a resident, who said a trailer parked on the street with the auxiliary motor running was causing a public disturbance.

Mayor Lloyd Hogan, who presided reported that a committee, which had objected to parking meters in the parking lot on Main Street, had discussed the matter with city merchants and found the merchants in favor of the meters and had withdrawn their complaint.

City Manager Glen Huntington advised the council of the recognition of the auxiliary police. Bill Coffer will be captain of the eight man force.

Collector's report for August showed receipt of $10,408.

The council approved payment of $7,173.68 in bills. Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan reported a total of $610 fines and court costs were assessed. Of this amount, $495 were paid and the difference was worked out on city streets.

The council adopted a resolution authorizing the city to utilize the resources of the public service careers program, administered by the Boothell Economic Development Council.

Potashnick will draft an ordinance to be presented at the next meeting of the council on a non-exclusive cable television franchise.

Manager Huntington reported the Community Betterment scrapbook had been forwarded to Jefferson City and that Mayor Hogan's name had been submitted for the leadership award at the annual community betterment award program in Jefferson City Oct. 13-14.

Mayor Hogan and Manager Huntington will meet with representatives from Charleston Wednesday to discuss building an airport to serve the Mississippi county area.

The manager reported Jerry Kestner had been hired as a new policeman to begin work late in September. He also said that due to an increase in vandalism over the city during the past two weeks, the police department has been ordered to enforce curfew laws.

Gilmore Appeals for Help in Drug Abuse

Tom Gilmore, Scott County prosecuting attorney, said his investigations of drug abuse by Sikeston young people are not making as much progress as he would like.

"We hear a lot of talk about drug violations, but we don't find a lot of fact," Gilmore said. He noted that people with knowledge of the problem are reluctant to give information and the prosecutor says:

"People who have information about this should come to us and tell us what they know. That's how we are going to get to the bottom of the problem. We need help."

Gilmore estimated eight to 10 per cent of the young people have had experience with drugs and most of that is marijuana. He said very few are users of "hard stuff."

Gilmore said drug abuse is not nearly as widespread or as bad as rumors would have it, but he added, "Any amount of it is bad, no matter how little. We want to stop it before it gets worse."

Frank Sinatra Involved in Gambling Spat

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra, who stormed out of a card game in which authorities say a gun was pulled, will have to get an entertainer's work permit and answer a few questions before he sings in the gambling spa again, Sheriff Ralph Lamb says.

Sinatra cut off a singing engagement at the Caesars Palace Casino Sunday after casino vice president Sandford Waterman, 56, refused the singer credit to play for $16,000 stakes in a baccarat game and drew a .38-caliber pistol to end an argument that followed, Lamb said.

Waterman was booked Monday for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon and released without bail. He declined comment on the incident.

"If Sinatra comes back to town," Lamb said, "he's coming downtown to get a work card."

And, said the sheriff, "if he gives me any trouble, he's going to jail."

The law requires that performers be fingerprinted and photographed for work cards, but Sinatra has been excused the formality until now, as have most other star performers.

"I'm tired of him intimidating waiters, waitresses, starting fires and throwing pies," Lamb told newsmen. "He gets through picking on little people in this town."

"Why the owners of the hotels put up with this is what I plan to find out."

Dist. Atty. George Franklin said he also wants to talk to would-be changing county registration costs for city voter registration said he was as follows: cost of making books, $250; cost of using made to Waterman as he was registration books for each going out the doors was, "The election, $60; and the charge for mob will take care of you," helpers for the five precincts Franklin said.

Sinatra's agent in Los Angeles said the singer was resting at his Palm Springs Calif., home.

Fire Blamed On Arson

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An early morning fire Sunday, ignited in a vacant house in the 600 block of Poon, spread to a house occupied by Eloise Wren. Both houses were destroyed.

Authorities said the fire was the result of arson.

Blazes ranged out of control for nearly two hours until both homes were overtaken. Officers estimated the fire was in progress for nearly an hour before being discovered by Mrs. Wren, who telephoned the fire department dispatcher.

The call at main headquarters was received at 2:46 a.m.

Firemen speculated that the fire in the vacant house, one of several vacant frame dwellings which have been destroyed on the south side in recent months, went unnoticed for nearly an hour before Mrs. Wren phoned fire headquarters.

In the past, fires in South Cape have been noticed, but none of the residents in the area have telephoned the fire department, it was learned.

Sewer and Water Project Work Okayed

CHARLESTON — At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night, Mayor R. W. Beasley was authorized to enter into a contract with Edward T. Hannon and Associated to complete engineering services on the sewer and water project at the industrial park.

City Manager Richard Martin recommended moving the school crossing on Marshall street from the south side to the north side. He said the crossing on Marshall street from the south side to the north side. He said the crossing on Marshall street from the south side to the north side.

The city will request the state put up "Slow Children at Play" signs on South Main street at the intersection of Lake Property to the city.
